

ICF International to Manage Energy Efficiency Programs for Major U.S. Utility

December 9, 2010

FAIRFAX, Va., Dec 09, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) --

ICF International (NASDAQ:ICFI), a leading provider of consulting services and technology solutions to government and commercial clients, has been awarded a new $14.4 million energy-efficiency contract by a major U.S. utility. The contract has a term of three years.

ICF will administer energy efficiency programs that focus on residential homes, commercial prescriptive measures, and commercial custom measures. ICF will support overall program operations, including database design and management, local trade ally recruitment and training, quality control of installed measures, call center services, and rebate processing and disbursement.

"We are excited to extend energy efficiency programs to many additional utility customers for our client," said Michael Mernick, senior vice president for ICF International. "ICF has extensive experience assisting utilities in helping their customers reduce energy consumption."

ICF is a leader in designing and implementing effective and innovative demand-side management strategies, including energy efficiency, demand response, and peak load management. ICF's thorough understanding of utility objectives and customer needs enables it to help energy companies, governments, and commercial clients worldwide to manage energy consumption and peak demand.

ICF clients include new integrated energy enterprises, power developers, regulated transmission and distribution companies, unregulated enterprises, municipal power authorities, energy traders and marketers, oil and gas exploration and production companies, gas transmission companies, pipeline developers, local distribution companies, industry associations, investors, financial institutions, law firms, and regulators.
